Richmond Terminal Affairs. Caroago, Aug. 8 .- A New York special says: Recently there has been a notable decline in the securities and properties included in the Terminal system and investors and speculators have been trying to learn the reason. It is rumored the dividend on first preferred stock of the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia (one of the three great properties controlled by the Terminal company) would be "passed," but this is officially deuted as everybody knows Richmond Terminal is merely the proprietary company. It directly owns no railway property, but owns securities through which it controls the Richmond & Danville Central, of Georgia, and East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia. The Rich-mond Terminal, however, has outstanding mond terminal, however, has outstanding securities amounting to $21,555,000. The special states the increase of debt on the three systems for the year ending June 30 last is $13,725,000, and adds: "The Rich-mond & Danville system failed to earn its mend & Danville system failed to earn its fixed charges by about $250,000. The Central, of Georgia, about earned its charges East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia tral, of Georgia, about earned its charges; East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia may show a surpins of $100,000, a total deficit of $170,000. Every since 1887, when the Central was acquired by the Eichmond Terminal, Richmond & Danville has paid regular dividends of 10 per cent., although it would seem they were not earned. It is alleged the books have been kept in such a manner that the profits of the Eichmond & Danville main system (751 miles) have shown up well and have been paid out, while the losses on the have been paid out, while the losses on the auxiliary system (about 2,500 miles) have been charged up in the general account as 'due by leased lines for advances, etc.;' that new bonds have been issued to make up the cash and an immense floating debt created. The company's report for 1891 to the stockholders shows 1½ per cent. estand on this: 10 per cent. actually paid. The amount needed to pay the 10 per cent. actually declared was obtained by 'income from other sources.' The Richmond & Dauville's sworn roport to the Virginia railroad commission for the year anded June 30, 1890, contrins, as usual, a list of securities owned by the company. A comparison of this list of securities owned by the company. A comparison of this list of securities owned by the company. A comparison of this list of securities owned by the company. A comparison of this list of securities owned by the company. A comparison of this list of securities with that of the preceding year shows 8677,000 worth, 'dropped out of sight.' It is possible they were disposed of and that the 10 per cent. dividend was helped out by the proceeds, assuming errors might have crept into the statement. The report was placed in the hands of John H. Inman, president auxiliary system (about 2,500 miles) have

News From the Sealing Grounds Washington, Aug. 8.—The navy department has received under date of Ounalaska, Alaska, July 11, a long letter from Commander Cotton, of the United States ship Mobican, commanding the United States Monican, commanding the United States naval forces in Behring sea. He says in part: "Commander Turner, of her majesty's ship Nymph, has expressed himself as being strongly in favor of hearty co-operation between the United States and British forces, and has been met by similar disposition upon the part of commanders of United States vessels."

Contrain Cotton is informed that the scale Captain Cotton is informed that the sealing fleet this season numbered about seventy vessels, of which about one half have already been boarded and warned. Commander Reiter, of the Thetis, learned, he says, the rendezvous of the sealing fleet for this year had been changed to Alltak, Kodiak island, whence he proceeded. On July 30, the commander writes, as he had anticipated, he had fallen in with four sealing schooners which had been to Alltak and were then bound for Behring sea. Each vessel boarded said there were a few remaining at Alltak.

It is Claimed the Business Hes Ceased to Boom.

There are Only Seven Statutory Causes-Utah Day Visitors Must Go Elsewhere.

Special to THE HERALD-Examiner Dispatch 1 CHICAGO, Aug. 8 .- "In one line only has Chicago not amplified her facilities for doing business. Incredible as it may sound, the one exception is that of divorce. And what is more, it is not easier to get a divorc in Chicago than elsewhere."

The speaker who made this statement this evening to an Examiner representative is one of the best known lawyers in Chicago, a personal friend of staunch old Judge Tully, who, with Judge Shepard, has had greater experience in divorce and other litigation than probably all the other jurists in Chicago put together. The conversation took place in an office within a stone's throw of the big court house, supposed by many strangers to be the greatest posed by many strangers to be the greatest divorce mill on earth.

"The reputation of Chicago for easy divorces," said the atterney, "is founded chiefly on the conditions here prior to the great fire of 1871. Since then, particularly since the present divorce statute was enacted in 1874, it has been as difficult to obtain a divorce in Chicago as in any other part of the union. From 1874 there has been no enlargement of divorce facilities, at least by statutory means. An indication of the real status is the fact of advertisements frequently appearing in Illinois of the real status is the fact of advertisements frequently appearing in litinois papers announcing that "worces can be obtained easily in Utah and similar places. The Illinois law," continued the attorney, "provides that no person shall be entitled to a divorce who has not resided in the state one whole year before filing his or her bill or petition. Consequently, transient divorces are no longer obtained here. In the old days nearly all divorces were heard in the private office of masters in chancery. Now, however, they are heard only by the chancellor in open court, and all the chancellors of Cook county have agreed upon the rule requiring the presence of a stenographer and the writing up and filing of the entire evidence before a decree is granted. The apparent before a decree is granted. The apparent increase in the number of divorces in Chicago i sregarded by experie increase of population. Only seven causes for divorce are recognized here: impotence, bigamy, adultery, desertion for two years habitual drunkenness for a like period, attempting the other's life by poison or other means showing positive malice and extreme and repeated crueity, and conviction of felony. The only practical change suggested in the present practice is one by Judge Tully, who, in an interesting interview published to-day, advocates the appointment of a special judge to try divorces exclusively. This, however, is not to allow greater facility, but to economize the time of the other judges. Judge Tully thinks a valuable professional reputation would be won by such a specialist, but for himself he would prefer some other branch

Consul Dougherty Says the War in Chili is Ridiculous.

BALMACEDAN OFFICERS CAUGHT

morning prints an interview with Aquilla J.Dougherty, United States consul at Callao Peru, who has just returned from that country. He says the present war in Chili is the most ridiculous revolution he ever knew or read of. It does not deserve the name of a revolution. The revolutionists are stationed at Iquique, several hundred miles from Santiago where Baimaceda has his headquarters. Baimaceda has a force of 30,000 at his command and the insurgents have 7,000. Between the two capitals of the opposing forces lies a mountain range that is simply impassable by an armed force. There is absolutely nothing upon the barren range of rugged mountains to and turned them over to the courts." sustain an army, and it is impossible to carry across it that which is necessary to support an army. The insurgents have no ships with which to carry their men by sea, and if they had they would see, and if they had they would soon be destroyed, for Balmaceda has the whole coast protected by torpedo boats. Balmaceda is well supplied with the sinews of war and goes on with the government, ignoring to a great extent, the efforts of the insurgents. The idea of a party of revolutionists being 700 miles away from people against whom they have revolted, and totally unable to come nearer to them, strikes an American as nearer to them, strikes an American as being very far removed from what we would call an insurrection or rebellion. In would call an insurrection or receilion. In the meantime, while opposing the party in power, the insurgents are living well and some may be prespering. They occupy the rich district of Taraparca, with bound-less quantities of nitrates. This territory of Chili years ago was wrested from Peru. From the large revenues they derive from these nitrates they are enabled to feed themselves and live comfortably. Merchant vessels put in at Iquique and trade in this product as they did before the rebelies lion and the moneys thus brought to them

A Daring Bank Robbery.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 8 .- A special to the Evening Disputch from Lima, Onio, says: One of the boldest bank robberies and murders ever perpetrated in this sec tion of the country occurred this morning at Columbus Crove, a town of about two thousand people, some twelve miles north of here. Cashier Maple had just opened the exchange of the bank and laid out $3,000 near the cash window. About 8:30 a man appeared in the door with a revolver in each hand. He immediately began shooting. Cashier Maple was struck twice, once in the arm and once in the right side. As he fell to the floor an old fermer, William Vandemark, aged 60, entered the winam vandemars, aged 60, entered the door, having come to get money for some hogs he had just sold. The robber turned and shot him dead. A third man sat in the lobby of the bank paralyzed with fear. He was not molested. The desperado then grabbed $1,5:0 in greenbacks, shoved them into the pockets of his coat and darted out of the door shouting. "I am a second Joseph of the door shouting, "I am a second Jesse ing when the wild eyed murderer appeared on the street, having a gun in each hand and shooting indiscrimi-nately. One bystander, Henry Buck, nately. One bystander, Heary Buck, was struck down by a bullet from the revolver. The fellow ran to the outskirts of the town and disappeared.

The desperado is described as short and heavy set with a full face and a small black mustache. He appeared to be about thirty or thirty-five years old. A posse was quickly organized and started in pursuit. Another posse started from West Co to assist in the scale of the state of the wounds of Maple and Buck are not necessarily fatal. the Columbus Grove bank robber was overtaken in the woods and shot to death. Another Account of the Robbery.

LIMA, O., Aug. 8.-Another story of the robbery at Columbus Grove is as follows: This morning a stranger entered a hardware store adjoining the bank and saked for two revolvers. After loading them he presented the weapons at the proprietor's head, telling him to take his pay out of that. He then entered the bank and began shooting at Cashier T. J. Maple, who was shooting at Cashier I. J. Maple, who was struck twice. The robber slead $12,000 and started to run when a farmer at-tempted to stop him. The farmer was shot down and fatally wounded. The desperado then got into a buggy which an accomplice had ready and the couple quickly escaped and although searching parties have gone and although searching parties have gone out in every direction the robbers have not been captured. Maple will recover. William Vandemark, the farmer whom the burglar shot, cannot recover it is feared. Cashier Maple will recover. Vandemark says he was entering the bank when the fellow came toward hin flourishing two revolvers. He shot once and then turned back into the bank. Mr. Vandemark was assisted to the doctor's office by his son, and while there saw the robber tearing his way through the streets by means of drawn revolvers, and disappear means of drawn revolvers, and disappear at the rallroad crossing some distance

Cashler Maple's Statement.

TOLEDO, Aug. 8 .- A Blade special from Columbus Grove gives Cashier Maple's statement as follows: "Two men were in the bank becides myself and A. C. Cyfort, at my wicket renewing notes. A boylsh looking fellow with a smooth face came in. He walked up to the wicket and pointing rewaited up to the wices and pointing re-voivers, said, 'I want your money.' I thought it was one of the town boys making sport because of so much show of firearms and i made a reply of some kind in that line, whereupon he blazed away. The first shot gave me a wound in the side, the second one in my arm and the third shot missed. I then grabbed my revolver, which only had one load in it and fired. I shot to had one load in it am instead. The robb started out and met William Vandema just coming in. He shot once at him, on up the stairway, in this hall where nobo was, once at a man driving by in a wagon, and then started back into the bank. I was by this time standing by the cellar way. I held him at bay with my drawn revolver until he saw I could not shoot, when he fired away twice, making eight shots fired in all. I dedged into the cellar way for protection, and with the door partly open saw the fellow reach behind the screen and take all the money he could reach amounting as near as I can guess to $1,300 and deliberately put it in his pocket and walked out. After this the fellow went to the P. A. & W. depot where two men undertook to stop him, but he cleared his way by promptly drawing his gun.s."

Maple is in no danger unless blood poisoning sets in. Vandermark is one of the most substantial farmers in the vicinity. He was atruck by a bullet on the right side below the ribs, and injured internally. He cannot live.

Skirts Just Below the Knees and Boots are Distinctive Characteristics—The Bress is Chiefly for Wet Weather.

Special to The Herald—Examiner Dispatch.
Boston, Aug. 8.—A strong dress reform a club has been quietly organized in this city. Secrecy, for the present, was the word, but as the organization is made up exclusively of women, this part of the programme was, of course, a fallure. A Possific reporter has learned that it is seriously proposed by a number of Boston ladies to appear on the streets the first rainy Sunday in October in short skirts made up of waterproof cloth, in dark colors, reaching but an inch or two below the knee, with heavy boots and long galters made from mackintosh cloth. If galters are not used, them mousquetaires or ordinary riding boots will be worn. The skirt will be kilted and hang heavy so as not to be discovered to them. This pleasant state of maars, they deciared, was larged due to the encreetic efforts of William Walter Phelps, United States minister to Germany.

Moses P. Handy, one of the members of the commission, referring to the attacks made by the Vossiche Zeitneg, said they had been inspired by some muddlemen, hore or in New York, whose interest it was to keep American buyers from direct intercourse with foreign manufacturers. "If these meet through the fair." In perial Commissioner Herr Wormuth said: "Emperor William shows such an interest in inquiring into the arrangements for German representation at the fair as to suggest it is his intention to personally grace the fair withfais presence." Among derman newspapers advocating the largest possible display of German derman had been inspired by some muddlemen, hore or in New York, whose interest it was to keep American buyers from direct intercourse with foreign manufacturers. "If these meet through the fair." In perial Commissioner Herr Wormuth said: "Emperor William shows such an interest it is his intention to personally grace the fair withfais presence." Among direct in the Commiss then mousquetaires or ordinary riding German element in the United S boots will be worn. The skirt will be says Germans ought not to ren kilted and hang heavy so as not to be disarranged by the wind. A reefer jacket or long cloak will cover the upper part of the body, and under this a fa ordinary dress waist will be worn, an ordinary hat, or better still, a tarpaulin sailor, mary hat, or better still, a tarpaint sailor, will complete what will certainly be a very novel costume. It has been decided to have no complete uniformity about the dress. In the matter of material the members of the club have been instructed to exercise their individual tastes, making the costume as attractive and becoming as possible. The membership of this gress reform club has already reached 200, and includes school teachers, physicians, actresses and members of other professions. All the members have pledged themselves to appear on the streets and in the stores of Boston—in fact wherever they are likely to attract attention—in a dress which may become popular with women in stormy weather.
